- Historic renovation of rammed-earth wall church, originally built in 1850, that had been severely damaged by termites.
- Listed on the National Register of Historic Place and has also been declared a National Historic Landmark.
- Extensive plaster repair and replacement. Extensive shoring was added to support and protect existing structure. 50% of the exposed heart pine trusses were removed and replaced. Slate floors were added throughout the sanctuary and historic reclaimed wood was used to rebuild the choir loft/chancel. New concrete slab and new mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems were installed.
- Reinstalled original stained glass into modern mullions and added protective glazing. Also installed new roof.
